DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

Claims 8-11, and 13-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Brinkman et al.

Brinkman teaches pulsed laser deposition of a solid target that comprises magnesium diboride powder that has been sintered into a solid pellet (paragraph bridging pages 1 and 2). A pulsed laser is used to eject magnesium diboride from this a layer of magnesium diboride is grown on the surface of a substrate (page 2, 3rd paragraph). The chamber pressure and layer thickness are within the applicant's claimed ranges (2nd page, 4th paragraph). It is the position of the examiner that as the same deposition steps are used in the claimed invention and the reference, the lattice constants being matched (applicant's claim 9) is inherent to the process taught by the reference.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brinkman et al., as applied to claim 8 above, and further in view of Koura (US 4,975,417).

Brinkman teaches the limitations of claim 1, but fails to explicitly teach using substrates besides silicon. However, Koura teaches that silicon compounds are commonly used as the substrate on which a superconductor is formed (column 2, lines 50-55). Therefore, it would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to utilize silicon compounds, such as SiC, in the process taught by Brinkman, as Koura teaches that silicon compounds are commonly used as a substrate for superconductors and Brinkman teaches the deposited film is used as a superconductor.

Response to Arguments

The declaration filed on September 16, 2003 under 37 CFR 1.131 has been considered but is ineffective to overcome the Brinkman reference.

The evidence submitted is insufficient to establish diligence from a date prior to the date of reduction to practice of the Brinkman reference to either a constructive reduction to practice or an actual reduction to practice.

Under 37 CFR 1.131, the critical period in which diligence must be shown begins just prior to the effective date of the reference or activity and ends with the date of a reduction to practice, either actual or constructive (i.e., filing a United States patent

The 37 CFR 1.131 affidavit or declaration must contain an allegation that the acts relied upon to establish the date prior to the reference or activity were carried out in this country or in a NAFTA country or WTO member country. See 35 U.S.C. 104.

In the period in question, the inventors have only asserted that they had met at least once with Mr. McCabe. No evidence has been provided and diligence has not been shown for the critical period. Additionally, the declaration does not contain an allegation that the acts of conception and diligence were carried out in this country or in a NAFTA or WTO member country.

Since the declaration is ineffective to overcome the Brinkman reference, the examiner maintains the rejection of record.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
